Pleasing Functions Are Enlivening Society Prepares for Holy Week Many Functions to Follow Easter

THERE will be a damper on everything social this week. However much inclined to luxury in the observance of Lent from Ash Wednesday to Palm Sunday, one simply cannot approach Holy Week in a spirit of lightness and indifference. The devout observe it rigorously and others apply social repression in recognition of the fitness of things so that the world, the flesh, and the devil do actually seem for a time to have gone into eclipse.

And so it will be in town this week. All "our set" will put aside thoughts of tea and bridge and movies, and go in for sacred music and solemn services, and hold strictly to the rest of the proprieties.

But, there now, don't give way to gloom. It has all been gone through before, and this year as in others, Easter will follow Good Friday—and then watch "Our Set."

MISS EUGENIA RUPPE HOSTESS AT DANCE

Miss Eugenia Ruppe gave a dance on Thursday night at Colombo hall in honor of Mrs. F. H. Kramer of Detroit, Mich., who is visiting her. A string orchestra furnished the music. Refreshments were served. The punch bowl was presided over by Miss Kathleen Mader of Bay City, Mich.

During an intermission Major Ruppe made a speech. He was eloquent, as always.

Our criticism of the White Cloud woman who put her husband "out" with a flatiron is that a woman strong enough to have a flatiron at her husband is able to fight him barehanded, and should be compelled to do so.

CAMOUFLAGE FEMINITY AT WOOL BANQUET

Quite the most elaborate social event of the week was the cabaret banquet of the Wool Growers' association at the Country club Monday night, but the news writers have gone lavishly into the details of that. One of the things they didn't make known, however, was that Juanita Huerta, who dazzled the eighty-five guests with what was billed as an Oriental vampire dance, was neither Juanita nor Huerta. "She" was Lewis Turner impersonating a Spanish dancer at a previous Wool Growers' dinner, but he fooled them again this year because his make-up was different. For one thing, he went in heavily for conservation in dress and danced in short skirts.

Miss Hortense Switzer scored a tremendous success with a song entitled "There'll Be a Hot Time for the Old Men When the Young Men Are Away." Rosalind Jose, a Chicago singer who is spending a month or two here, also scored a decided hit.

A. B. McMillen made a speech, and so did Frank Hubbell, Clark Carr, Louis Hild and Harry Kelly. The latter is in Albuquerque now, and so is bracketed with that goodly company. H. A. Jastro of Bakerfield, Calif., who is Mrs. M. C. Chabourn's father; H. C. Abbott of Colfax county, Charles Springer of Santa Fe and Ed Sargent also spoke.

White Is Favored For This Easter

That there is something particularly young and festive about the white costume is demonstrated by this delightful spring outfit of oyster white ray silk. The coat is unusually long—an extravagance of style only permitted to silk in these days of wool shortage, and perhaps its greatest charm is its rich embroidery of conventional flowers in pastel blues, pinks, yellows and greens. The hat is of the white silk, crowned with blue crepe and wreathed with small pink roses. For the spring bride this dainty costume is ideal.

IN HONOR OF MISS ELLIS AND SAINT PATRICK

Florence Ellis' birthday falls the day before St. Patrick's day, which is the children's party her mother, Mrs. George E. Ellis, gave for her on her eleventh anniversary was a combination of birthday party and St. Patrick's day party.

Friends of Florence's friends attended it. It began with an early matinee at a moving picture theater. Mrs. F. M. Lyon filling the role of chaperone. At the Ellis home, "after the show," there were games until 5 o'clock, when a course luncheon was served. A birthday cake was the centerpiece. The place cards were unusually pretty and the favors were little broods of fluffy cotton chicks gay in all the colors of the rainbow. The ice cream was green in honor of St. Pat.

There was a luncheon march before the children took their places at the table, for which Mrs. Lyon played the piano.

SUCCESS MARKS CHURCH SOCIABLE AND TEA

Seven women of the Presbyterian church joined in giving a sociable and tea at the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid society fund. The guests numbered more than sixty. The hostesses were Mesdames W. E. Volking, Silas Volking, L. M. Fee, Charles Hewitt, J. C. Boyd, A. R. Werning and Mrs. L. E. Fletcher.

It was an informal event and the guests brought their sewing and knitting. Miss Helen Fee, Mrs. N. W. Benning and Miss Emma Volking sang. Miss Malvina Blake played the piano. Light refreshments were served.

Potted plants in bloom were used in the decorations.

Shriner Soldiers Dined by Eastern Star, Then Dance

If it hadn't been for forty or fifty members of the Eastern Star lodge, the program of entertainment arranged by the Shriner for the two Masonic brothers who stopped in town Thursday on their way back from the Scottish Rite initiation in Santa Fe would have been minus a shining gastronomic triumph. Those devoted stars cooked and served a dinner that was perfect, and there were no host prandial speeches to take the edge off the enjoyment of it.

Twenty-four girls afflicted as waitresses. They looked decidedly chic in serving caps decorated with the Eastern Star Emblem.

Consider, now, that most of the guests were soldiers from Camp Cody, and you can guess how they were taken by that "home-cooked and home served" dinner.

It was strictly a Shrine dinner and followed the initiation of fifty Shrine candidates, drawn mostly from the trainload of visitors. The feast was spread in the early evening, and was followed by a ball. The visitors arrived in town in the forenoon, and there was a cafeteria lunch ready for them. All the events on the program, except one, took place at Masonic temple.

The exception was the entertainment of soldiers, an event which fell to the lot of Mrs. C. J. Jacobs. With her guest, Mrs. J. T. Verlin of Denning she met the five feminine visitors, all wives of army officers, and quite dispelled the gloom of a rainy day. The visitors were entertained at lunch at the Alvarado hotel.

The ball was a jolly affair, marked by two phases. The floor was crowded while the visitors were there, but they had to leave in time to entrain at 10 o'clock. The Albuquerqueans continued the dancing, and the crowd effect, until after midnight.

C. M. Barber, of the entertainment committee, arranged for the lunch and the dinner and the ball supper. Russell Mead and Edward T. Chase, the other members of the Shrine, helped arrange for the ball. P. L. Williamson, potentate of the Shrine, met the visitors at the train with a band and piloted them to the Temple.

Thursday's initiations raise the number of stars on the Shrine service flag to more than a hundred. Ballad Alvarado temple, always a statewide institution, now has approximately 1,000 members. The initiations during the past three months have set a record not likely to be broken in the temple's history. During the quarter 170 novices have been chased across the burning sands.

the philanthropic department of the club was taken at a concert given by the Women's club Friday night. The club chorus sang "The Golden Valley," a cantata, finely. Mrs. Lawrence Lacker, Mrs. S. B. MEETING OF THE WOMEN OF THE AMERICAN ARMY

At last Monday's meeting of the Women of the American Army, Mrs. Sexton, chairman of the Red Cross chapter of Halifax, N. S., an ardent war worker, who in a visitor here, demonstrated the workings of the knitting machine. Mrs. McLambin spoke on the coming liberty loan drive, and Captain Cook speaking for Mrs. Stump, made it plain that "Shrimps" need boxes as well as food. Two members were appointed as campaign workers in the liberty loan drive. The meeting closed with a demonstration of wheatless pastry by Mrs. Knowles.

BAZZAR BY WOMEN OF AMERICAN ARMY

The Women of the American Army will hold a bazaar on Saturday, March 20, at their new headquarters, 223 West Gold avenue, where aprons, home-made pies, cakes, cookies, bread, Hoover's taffy candy, and Easter eggs will be sold for the benefit of the organization. There will be two kinds of aprons—for kitchen and outdoor wear—made by the new confederation of women, one national food administrator will be made by some of the high school girls, whose mothers are members of the army. An "Irish chain" quilt, pieced from scraps left over in the making of the service flags, will be sold, and the ambulance robe made by the women or the organization will be on display before being sent to France.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Wood of 312 West Roma avenue, returned Wednesday morning from a two weeks' visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thelin, Jr., at Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Wood attended to business interests while away.

Mrs. Theodore W. Cady, who for three years resided here with her late husband, returned yesterday on the California Limited. Mrs. Cady will remain here indefinitely, her present address being the Alvarado hotel.

MISS WINONA C. MARTIN

Miss Winona C. Martin, the first woman in the casualty list of the Y. M. C. A., died in a soldier's German air raiders killed her in Paris while she was on eastern duty for the Y. M. C. A. Miss Martin's home was at Rockville Center, L. I.

There are two hundred women of Miss Martin's type in the Y. M. C. A. eastern service in France. They are there because the American soldiers asked for them. They wanted women sent over who would be mothers and sisters to them and keep them in mind of their mothers and sisters at home. Like Miss Martin they may pay the supreme price. Brilliant Social Week at Santa Fe

Women Planning Big Charity Ball

Victor Horta, Belgium, to Lecture

SOCIALLY the past week was one of the most brilliant this season. The incentive for the marked social activity was the three days' Masonic reunion with almost 200 officers and men from Camp Cody present. Several of the officers brought their wives.

With Brigadier General Allen heading the Camp Cody contingent, Santa Fe promptly surrendered to the military from Iowa, Minnesota and nearby states, and every one found his or her pleasure in making it agreeable and interesting for the guests of honor.

It began Sunday evening with the museum and art gallery throwing open their doors. Members of the staff explained to the visitors something of the exhibits, incidentally emphasizing the high spots in New Mexico's history and resources.

The weather was perfect up to Wednesday night, when, just before the guests departed on their special train, spring was ushered in with a heavy snow, to the great delight of the Iowans and Minnesotans, who declared that this was the final touch that made them feel at home and which convinced them that New Mexico is, after all, God's country.

MONDAY AFTERNOON TEA

Monday afternoon tea was served at the Parrot shop, and in the evening there was a military dance. Tuesday evening a concert at the Masonic cathedral was followed by a military dance that was as brilliant as it was informal.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Janus and Mrs. Wilson entertained the visiting women. Of course, there were a score or more dinner and house parties, trips to Tesuque and nearby Shriner and little social gatherings that were sandwiched in between decorative work.

Each noon the Eastern Star served

COMING AND GOING

Santa Fe lodge of Elks on Friday evening enjoyed a "Cheer Up" banquet as a preliminary to an initiation. The banquet was largely attended. The initiation did not stay with the banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rohlfson are now domiciled on Kentucky avenue. Later in the season they will go to Taos. Miss Louise Crow, another artist, accompanied by her mother, has taken the Burlin studio on Col lege avenue.

The Fifteen club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Boyle presiding. In addition to "Quaestions" and "Current Events," an interesting literary program was given.
